PROJECTS

THEME OF THE ROLE OF FATE AND AGENCIES SHAPING IN HUMAN LIFE IN JOHN STEINBECK'S THE PEARL

Research and Writing

Examined how fate and external agencies shape human life in John Steinbeck's The Pearl. Through analysis of the characters and events, I explored how social, economic, and cultural forces influence the protagonist's choices and outcomes, highlighting Steinbeck's critique of determinism and limited human agency.

BIOREGIONALISM IN TIM ROBINSON CONNEMARA TRILOGY

Research and Writing

Explored the concept of bioregionalism as it is represented in Tim Robinson's Connemara Trilogy. The study examines how Robinson's deep engagement with the physical, ecological, and cultural landscape of Connemara reflects key bioregional principles, such as place-based knowledge, ecological sustainability, and the interconnectedness of human and natural systems.
